A part of the Benefice of East Vale and Avon Villages

Friends of Badsey Church

Following the meeting on 2nd March a number of people have expressed an interest in helping to preserve the church building in Badsey village for the future. The building is Grade II * listed and has had an interesting history. We want to make sure that it also has a future.

A group called "Friends of Badsey Church" is being formed and we are looking for people who are interested in supporting this venture. We not only need fund raising activities but are also keen to tap in to the skills of the people of the village. There are various tasks that people could help with either on the building or in the churchyard. We feel sure that the people of the village want to see a well maintained building and a well-tended churchyard which will be to everyone's benefit.

By the time this magazine goes out the group will have held their first meeting and will no doubt have shared a number of useful ideas.

We would love to hear from you if you would like to hear more or if you feel you could contribute in any way. Please get in touch initially by telephone to 07910 805 831

Thought For The Month From

Revd. Fr. Philip Morton

Dear friends
The first day of this month is "April Fools Day" when some people try to make fools of others and the others find it terribly embarrassing to say the least.

For the first part of April we are still in the season of Lent when, as I said last month, people try to give up something like chocolate, cake or some other indulgence.

But, of course, as we think of Easter our minds can invariably go to Chocolate Eggs and Hot Cross Buns and all other such fattening commodities.

Easter Bunnies and days off work are other aspects that spring to mind, along with the possibility of April showers, as we contemplate this holiday period.

Whilst Lent can be a season of self-denial, Easter can lead us into new life through the death and resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Jesus went about doing good and if his story ended at "Good Friday" when he was crucified and laid in a tomb, that would be the saddest of all stories ever told because that would have been the end.

But the story does not end there for it carries on with a bright new beginning from "Easter Sunday", when Jesus rose triumphant from the grave and lives on forever.

Lent might have been a season of self-denial but let the season of Easter lead us into new life and purpose as we allow the Love of God to fill our lives because of the death and resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Please join us at our Easter Services.

Vicar's Surgeries

In a slight change to the usual pattern of Benefice surgeries, I will now be holding the surgery at the Vicarage in Badsey, on alternate Tuesday evenings from 6pm-8pm. This is for anyone who wants to book baptisms (christenings) and weddings. It's also great for me, as I get to meet to people who want to book a special service early on in the process and get to know them a little bit.

You can book baptisms and weddings for any of the churches in the Benefice. All you have to do is contact our lovely administrator Wendy and she will book you an appointment. Wendy can be contacted on 01386 424728 or admin@eastvaleavon.org.uk

Women's World Day of Prayer

Informed Prayer, Prayerful action

A great big thank you to so many people for making the March 5th such success, our fourteenth year of Women's World Day of Prayer of our six villages joining together.

The lunch was fantastic, eighteen people from across the whole Benefice came together for a fellowship meal in Middle Littleton Village Hall. The choice was either Philippine curry or cottage pie followed by fruit crumble. Everyone helped in one way or another by cooking, serving washing up, putting out tables and clearing up.

The inter denominational service, with many denominations represented, was led by Joyce Bache. This year's service was written by the Christian Women of the Philippines, the theme being "Am I being unfair to you". Joyce explained the poster, depicting the difference between wealth and poverty in the Philippines. The service was about forming a circle starting with three readers and gradually as the service unfolded growing until fifteen people were in the semi-circle then finally the whole congregation joined hands to make one big circle to give one another The Grace. Refreshments followed with Philippines bite sized cakes made by Sue Jinks

Thank you, for the use of St. Nicholas's Church, and to all those that took part too many to mention.

A letter from the Archdeacon

I recently attended one of the so-called Way Stations of the Reformation. This is a roving exhibition commemorating the Reformation, surprisingly on a bus, which is being sent from Germany around over sixty different significant cities in Europe, returning there for the 500th anniversary of Martin Luther in October later this year. The theme of the Way Station was Reformation: Then and Now.

The question being asked was what needed reforming back then in the sixteenth century, and was that, in a sense, 'job done' for ever. If not, what needs reforming today if the Church is to be semper reformanda, always reforming. In others words, did enough change already happen back then, or is it something we live with constantly. Thinking back to the recent General Synod it is clear that this debate is still alive and well.

Martin Luther was a German monk. When he decided to challenge what he saw as shortcomings, even betrayals, of the gospel in the church, he never intended to create a new church. He wanted to heal it and take it back to its roots. With the sale of indulgences he saw the danger of clergy become merchants of grace, grace itself becoming some sort of commodity which could be acquired. So his conclusion was that it's all about grace, God's free gift, because that is what God is like.

He soon discovered all sorts of unintended consequences in his Reformation. It is easier to set off events, rather than stop or control them. His Reformation reminded the church of the primacy of God's grace revealed in Scripture, but it marked years of division and even war, and the raising of destructive human passions where Christians could not even see each other as belonging to the same Church.

It is easy to divide, but it is harder to reconcile. So we may, like Luther, get the basic message right, but we need to return constantly to what that message means as it works out in practice. You could say that it has taken the churches 500 years to get back to the position of recognising that they belong in the same church. This is why the Archbishop of Canterbury keeps going on about learning the art of good disagreement – church history contains too many examples of the bad.

We are firmly placed in this world but are fired by a vision of another world. We live on earth, but seek the kingdom of heaven. This other-worldliness must not lead us astray into ways of behaviour which actually deny the nature of Christ we are called to imitate. In that sense we are always in need of reform, semper reformanda, the good news being that our God is always the same: He loves us anyway.

The Badsey Society's Tony Jerram Award

For the first time ever, the Tony Jerram Award, which is awarded annually to people who have done good work in the community, was made jointly to a brother and sister team, Rob Welch and Tracey Hemming.

In the words for the people who nominated them: "Tracey started Freedom Disco last year. It is a disco for young people who have learning difficulties. It began in a small way, with a few donations, which enabled Tracey to purchase second-hand disco equipment. It has grown from strength to strength and is held every Tuesday night at "The Pub in a Club". The young people, with their carers, can spend an enjoyable evening in a safe and secure environment. The main aim now is for Tracey and her volunteers to raise enough money to purchase a minibus so that those who live further away can attend the disco [as at March 2017, this target has now been met]. Fund-raising activities are well-supported and the minibus appeal is growing. Tracey and her husband, Paul, have a 28-year-old son who has Fragile X Syndrome (a genetic disorder). He will need care for the rest of his life, as do many others. Nigel Huddleston MP is a supporter of Freedom Disco. He attended the fete in the summer and has recently tweeted further support."

The nomination for Robert said: "He has kept the club open under extreme circumstances. The Club is used by several elderly groups who would have to finish if the club closed. The Freedom Disco he support 100% and would not be able to function without him. He is a very unassuming man who never asks for thanks."

And finally, the nomination for the pair: "The nomination cannot be for one only as both have put in great effort to enable the ex Royal British Legion Club building to be used as the new Pub Inn a Club which has enabled the various activities for social groups to continue which would not have a venue. Also, starting The Freedom Club for those who lack social skills but gives them a safe place to meet."

Tracey and Rob were unable to attend the AGM when the presentation is normally made, so Barbara Jerram put on her dancing shoes and accompanied Maureen Spinks to the Valentine's Day Freedom Disco at The Pub Inn a Club, where the award was made in front of nearly 100 people.
